

Discover what's possible when your plan is based on people, not serial numbers.

You're more than a serial number to us. That's why we've retired our plans based on serial numbers and launched new plans based on people. And with our 2-for-1 deal, you can trade in one multi-user subscription or network maintenance seat in exchange for two subscriptions at a cost consistent with what you pay today.

Here are 10 reasons our shift to plans centered around people instead of serial numbers is the best way to discover what's possible.

This is only the beginning.

Expect a far more relevant user experience—more efficient collaboration, more constructive insights, and more time-saving convenience. It all starts here when you transition to named user plans.

- 1 The named user model is a better fit for today's business practices, streamlining administrative work.
- 2 New plan options provide a range of administrative support, control, and reporting to fit the size and needs of your business.
- 3 You can see your usage data and determine in the future who on your team needs dedicated or flexible access.
- 4 You have 1:1 software access, so your employees always have the tools they need when they need them, avoiding downtime when all licenses are in use.
- 5 You can view usage frequency by product and version, allowing you to optimize your licensing costs.
- 6 In the future, you'll get insights to analyze collaboration data and find new ways to make your team more productive.
- 7 Replace the need for tracking serial numbers with an efficient cloud-based license management approach.
- 8 Security features, such as two-factor authentication in a standard plan or single sign-on in a Premium plan, keep your design data safe.
- 9 2-for-1 Trade-in Offer
If you have a multi-user subscription or network-maintenance plan, at your next renewal*, trade in one seat for two standard named user subscriptions.
- 10 Keep your costs consistent with what you pay today, get more value, and get an ongoing discount to 2028.
